

CALUMET CITY PUBLIC LIBRARY
INTERNET/PUBLIC ACCESS COMPUTER USE POLICY

EQUIPMENT

The Calumet City Public Library provides a large selection of computer workstations for the public. These computers allow access to the Internet, to the library's Local Area Network (LAN) databases, and to a variety of word processing, spreadsheet and other popular educational software.

NATURE OF THE INTERNET

In response to advances in technology and the changing needs of the community, the Calumet City Public Library endeavors to develop collections and services that meet the informational, educational and recreational needs of a diverse community. It is within this context that the Library offers access to the Internet.

The Calumet City Public Library does not monitor and has no control over the information accessed through the Internet. Therefore, the Library is not responsible for the Internet's content. The Internet is a global entity with a highly diverse user population and Library patrons use it at their discretion.

Certain information obtained via the Internet may be considered offensive, disturbing, controversial and/or illegal by some patrons. Discretion and discrimination in the access and use of on-line materials is the responsibility of the patron. In the case of a patron who is also a minor, restrictions in access to these on-line materials is the responsibility of the patron's parent(s) or legal guardian. It is the Library's position, however, that the value of the information and the interaction available on this worldwide network far outweigh the possibility that users may come across material that is inconsistent with the goals of the Library.

Information obtained via the Internet may not be reliable, accurate or current. Links to information on the Internet may not always be valid, and particular information sites on the Internet may sometimes be unavailable.

The Calumet City Public Library and its staff are not responsible for damages, direct or indirect, arising from a library patron's use of the Library's Internet connection.
